been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains at the time the invention of the patent in suit was made by the inventor named in the patent in suit and at the time the application for the patent in suit was filed.

Answer No. 3.

Yes.

(a) The defendant, Taito America Corporation, has not completed its investigation of the prior art with respect to the patent in suit, and this information will be supplied when known.

Interrogatory No. 4

Does defendant contend that the patent in suit is invalid, void, or unenforceable for any reason under 35 U.S.C. § 112? If so:

(a) If defendant contends that the specification of the patent in suit does not contain a written description of the invention thereof, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same, state in detail each and every deficiency in the written description of the invention and each and every item or element which was omitted from the written description of the invention and state in detail every ground reason, or basis to support the position such deficiencies or omitted items or elements, taken singularly or in combination, would prevent any person skilled in the art to which the invention of the patent in suit pertains, or to which it is most nearly connected, from making and using the same.

(b) If defendant contends that the specification of the patent in suit does not set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor named in the patent in suit of carrying out the invention of the patent in suit, identify each mode of carrying out the invention of the patent in suit which was contemplated by the inventor named in the patent in suit as better than the mode or modes set forth in the specification of the patent in suit.

(c) If defendant contends that the specification of the patent in suit fails to conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out or distinctly claiming the subject matter which the inventor named in the patent in suit regarded as his invention, state in detail each and every ground, reason or basis to support the position the claims of the patent in suit fail to particularly point out or distinctly claim the subject matter which the inventor regarded as his invention.

Answer No. 4.

Yes. The defendant, Taito America Corporation, has not completed its discovery with respect to the patent in suit, and is not at this time prepared to detail the reasons that it contends that the patent is invalid, void or unenforceable for any reason under 35 U.S.C. § 112. The defendant, Taito America Corporation, will make this information known to the plaintiffs as defendant's discovery progresses.

Interrogatory No. 5.

Does defendant contend that the patent in suit is invalid, void, or unenforceable for any reason under 35 U.S.C. §§ 251 or 252? If so, state in detail each and every reason, ground, or basis to support defendant's contention that the patent in suit is invalid, void, or unenforceable under 35 U.S.C. §§ 251 or 252; state in detail each alleged act, fact, or occurrence known to defendant which supports each such reason, ground, or basis; and, separately as to each act, fact, or occurrence, identify all persons known to defendant who were witnesses to such alleged act, fact, or occurrence and all documents known to defendant relating to the occurrence or nonoccurrence of such alleged act, fact, or occurrence.

Answer No. 5.

Yes. Defendant, Taito America Corporation, believes that the patent in suit is invalid, void, or unenforceable under 35 U.S.C. §§ 251 and 252, and that discovery will develop facts supporting this contention. These facts are not known to defendant Taito America Corporation at the present time, and will be made known to the plaintiffs as Taito America Corporation's discovery proceeds.

Interrogatory No. 6.

Does defendant contend that the patent in suit is invalid, void, or unenforceable or was unenforceable at any time while defendant was making, using or selling video games for any reason other than those stated in defendant's responses to interrogatories 2 through 5? If so, state in detail each and every other reason, ground, or basis to support defendant's other contentions that the patent in suit is or was invalid, void, or unenforceable; state in detail each alleged act, fact, or occurrence known to defendant which supports each such reason, ground, or basis; and, separately as to each alleged act, fact, or occurrence, identify all persons known to defendant who were witnesses to such alleged act, fact, or occurrence and all documents known to defendant relating to the occurrence or nonoccurrence of such alleged act, fact, or occurrence.

Answer No. 6.

The defendant, Taito America Corporation, believes that the patent in suit is invalid, void, or unenforceable for reasons other than those stated in defendant's responses to interrogatories 2 through 5, but the defendant, Taito America Corporation, has not proceeded sufficiently far with its discovery to detail these contentions. Taito America Corporation will advise the plaintiffs of such grounds as its discovery proceeds.

It is believed that when the construction of the video games identified in paragraph 2 (a) becomes known, these games will not be infringements of the patent in suit, but, should the construction of one or more of these games come within the scope of the patent in suit, Taito America Corporation will be entitled to claim intervening rights.

Interrogatory No. 7.

7. (a) Does defendant contend that any of the video game models or types identified in the response to paragraph (a) of interrogatory 2 does not come within the terms of one or more claims of the patent in suit? If so, as to each and every video game model or type identified in defendant's response to interrogatory 2 which defendant contends does not come within the terms of one or more claims of the patent in suit, state in detail each and every reason, ground, or basis to support defendant's contention that the video game model or type does not come within the terms of each of claims 25, 26, 28, 29, 31, 32, 44, 45, 51, 52, 54, 55, 57, 60, 61, 62, 63, and 64 of the patent in suit.

(b) Does defendant contend that plaintiffs are estopped from asserting that any one of claims 25, 26, 28, 29, 31, 32, 44, 45, 51, 52, 54, 55, 57, 60, 61, 62, 63, or 64 is infringed by the manufacture, use and/or sale by defendant of any one or more of the video game models or types identified in defendant's response to interrogatory 2? If so, as to each such claim and as to each video game as to which defendant contends plaintiffs are estopped, specifically identify each limitation, interpretation, admission, representation, proceedings, amendments, arguments, presentation, or other item which defendant alleges resulted in said estoppel; state with specific reference to paper, page number, and line number, if any, in the file history of the application or applications for the patent in suit where such limitation, interpretation, admission, representation, proceedings, amendments, arguments, presentation, or other item occurred; and state every reason, basis, or ground upon which defendant alleges each such limitation, interpretation, admission, representation, proceedings, amendments, arguments, presentation, or other item resulted in such estoppel.

Answer No. 7.

(a) Yes. The defendant, Taito America Corporation, is not fully appraised of the construction of the games identified under interrogatory 2 (a), but believes that each of these games falls outside of the claims of the patent in suit. Taito America Corporation has not completed its discovery, and when the construction of these games is known, Taito America Corporation will detail the grounds or bases to support this contention.

(b) Answered above.

Interrogatory No. 8.

What does defendant contend is "a reasonable royalty" as that term is used in 35 U.S.C. §284 for the use of the invention of the patent in suit by defendant if the Court should find that defendant has infringed the patent in suit? State each and every act, fact, occurrence, reason, ground, or basis which defendant will rely upon to support such contention.

Answer No. 8.

The defendant, Taito America Corporation, has not completed its discovery and has not made a contention with respect to the meaning of the term "a reasonable royalty". When such a contention is made, the defendant Taito America Corporation will so advise the plaintiffs.

Interrogatory No. 9.

9. (a) Identify each person whom defendant expects to call as an expert witness at the trial in this civil action.

(b) As to each expert witness identified in defendant's response to paragraph (a) of this interrogatory, state the subject matter or subjects matter on which he is expected to testify.

of the facts and opinions as to which the expert is expected to testify.

(d) As to each expert witness identified in defendant's response to paragraph (a) of this interrogatory, summarize the grounds for each opinion set forth in defendant's response to paragraph (c) of this interrogatory; and

(e) Identify each person whom defendant has retained or specially employed in anticipation of this civil action and/or in preparation for trial in this civil action.

Answer No. 9.

(e) The defendant, Taito America Corporation, has engaged the legal services of Marshall A. Burmeister in preparation for trial of this action.

Interrogatory No. 10.

Has defendant given or received any indemnity agreements relating to or including claims or charges of patent infringement of the patent in suit? If so, and separately as to each such indemnity agreement, identify the parties other than defendant to that agreement; state the date such indemnity agreement was entered into and the dates, if any, such indemnity agreement was terminated or modified; state the full and complete terms of such indemnity agreement and any modifications thereto.

Answer No. 10.

No.

Interrogatory No. 11.

With respect to plaintiffs acquisition of knowledge of the patents in suit:

(a) State the date when defendant first gained knowledge or was advised or received notice of that patent or of the application which resulted in that patent;

(b) State the date when defendant first gained knowledge or was advised or received notice that plaintiffs individually or collectively were asserting any exclusive or patent rights in the industry or trade related to video games;

(c) State in detail the manner in which defendant gained or received the knowledge, advice or notice specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this interrogatory and identify the person or persons, firm or firms, corporation or corporations and the like from whom such knowledge, advice or notice was gained or received;

(d) Identify all documents relating to the knowledge, advice and notice referred to in paragraphs (a) through (c) hereof;

(e) State whether defendant or an officer, director, or managing agent of defendant has ever formed an opinion as to whether the claims of the patent in suit were valid and/or enforceable against defendant and/or whether the manufacture, use, and/or sale by defendant of any of the video game models or types identified in defendant's response to paragraph (a) of interrogatory 2 hereof constituted infringement of said patent;

(f) If defendant's response to paragraph (e) of this interrogatory is in the affirmative, state the date or dates upon which defendant or any of its officers, directors, or managing agents arrived at such opinion or opinions as to whether the claims of the patent in suit were valid and/or enforceable against defendant and/or whether the manufacture, use, and/or sale by defendant of any of the video game models or types identified in defendant's response to paragraph (a) of interrogatory 2 hereof constituted an infringement of said patent; state each such opinion or opinions; identify each officer, director, managing agent, or other personnel of defendant who formed and held that opinion or opinions; identify every document containing or reporting that opinion or opinions; and identify each and every alleged fact, act, or occurrence and each and every document considered in arriving at that opinion or opinions.

Answer No. 11.

(a) through (d) The defendant, Taito America Corporation, heard by word of mouth of the filing of actions against Atari and Seeberg shortly after suits were filed by the plaintiffs against these companies. The defendant, Taito America Corporation, received no written notice, has no memory of the details of its first knowledge, and no documents with respect to first knowledge of the existence of the patent in suit, except for the complaint in this action.

(e) Defendant Taito America Corporation has formed the opinion that the claims of the patent in suit are invalid and unenforceable against it and that manufacture, use or sale by the defendant of the video games identified in paragraph (a) of interrogatory 2 does not constitute infringement of the patent in suit. This opinion is based solely upon the opinion of its counsel orally conveyed to the general counsel of Taito America Corporation. No officer, director, or employee of Taito America Corporation has ever formed an independent opinion with respect to these matters.

(f) Answered under (e).

Interrogatory No. 12.

With respect to any ownership interest in or license of defendant under any patents relating to the patent in suit:

(a) Identify each and every patent or patent application of the United States or any other country owned in whole or in part by defendant or which resulted from or covers development work done
